1. No ship of the Polish merchant fleet was equipped in 1952 with the Decca navigation apparatus, with the exception of the M/V BATORY.
2. In July 1953 it was observed that an additional band had been added to the existing Decca apparatus on the BATORY. Mechanics of the Decca firm had carried out the work. The Decca navigation equipment of this ship enables her to use the Decca network from Gibraltar via the Channel, through the North Sea and the Danish Straits to the Baltic.
